

What is Home Automation?

What is an automated home?

An automated home coordinates security, temperatures, lighting, and audio systems automatically for safety, energy savings, and convenience. An HAI home automation system can take the place of a standard security system or if desired, work with an existing system. For an affordable price, it greatly increases the value, safety, and energy efficiency of your home.

Is the system easy to understand and operate?

Yes, HAI systems are simple to understand and operate. Even young children can learn and understand how to use the basic features of the system. Day-to-day events are controlled with one button, such as Day, Night or Away; while more specific activities are menu driven to change temperature, lights, audio and more.

Can the system be controlled over the Internet or telephone?

Yes, All HAI systems can be accessed and controlled over the Internet or telephone either from within or away from the home. Check and adjust lights, temperature, security, audio, and more from your phone and/or computer.

Internet - HAI offers video surveillance capabilities over the Internet, so you can get a visual check of your home via your office PC, PDA, or web-enabled phone. Receive e-mails or text messages to inform you of what is happening at home.

Telephone - Not only can you call to check on the status of your home over the telephone, but your system can actually contact you! Have your system call you when your children have arrived home from school or if the alarm has gone off. You can graphically control your home from your Smartphone.

Can the system be easily expanded later if my needs change?

Yes, You can add Touchscreens, pool, spa, or irrigation controls, window treatments, remotes, Whole Home Audio systems, home theater controls, access control, and video surveillance. HAI has partnered with many other companies in related industries so you can expand and customize your home automation system now, or at any time in the future.

How long has this technology been available?

HAI has been manufacturing its award-winning line of home automation systems and accessories since 1985. Since that time, homeowners around the world have been enjoying the energy savings, safety, comfort, and convenience of home automation from the most established and respected manufacturer in the industry.

Is the system expensive?

Home automation is more affordable than you think! HAI offers a home automation system for every budget. Price depends on the size of your home and the options that you desire. Your HAI dealer will evaluate your home and your family's needs to customize an economical package that is just right for you.

HAI products will make your home "greener" by making it more energy efficient. As an added benefit you will save money on your energy bills. If used properly, your system can practically pay for itself in energy savings, while increasing the resale value of your home.

Contact your local HAI dealer for a personal demonstration and prices, or visit www.homeauto.com for more information.
